Today's dynamic spiritual communities recognize that it's not just about letting people know the beliefs and values of their ministry. Keeping members, visitors, and guests informed of activities and opportunities to engage in their religious community can greatly expand your ministry's reach and impact. With the national average of over 70% of congregants coming because they have been invited by a current member of your community, it is important to keep your community informed of "inviting opportunities."

- Outreach Opportunities
- Youth Programs

Four Winds Interactive provides innovative digital signage tools to help you encourage community participation in your many events and to reach out with clearly articulated, powerful messages using video, flash presentations, slide shows, and text messages, all with a seamless integration to your present event scheduling system.

High resolution color and animated graphics and video displayed on flat panel displays present a far more compelling message to engage your community than static printed signs.

With the cost of digital signs lower than ever before and the economic justification easy, it doesn't make sense to wait – digital media technology will help you expand your ministry's impact. People expect more and we can help you deliver. Contact us today!
